Actors' Summit Presents I LOVE YOU, YOU'RE PERFECT, NOW CHANGE

May 10 - June 3

Actors' Summit, Akron's Equity professional theatre, has announced the cast for its upcoming production of I Love You, You're Perfect, Now Change. The musical sketch comedy about the human mating game was written by Joe DiPietro with a score by Jimmy Roberts.

The show will have a preview performance on Thursday, May 10th and run through Sunday, June 3rd at Greystone Hall in downtown Akron.

Judy and I were part of the audience for tonight's performance. It was the third time we had seen productions of "I Love You, You're Perfect, Now Change." First time was at the Mansfield Playhouse, then the Carousel. We just wanted to say that of those versions, yours was the best by far. It was hard to believe it was an opening night show since, as always, the show seemed flawless. That was Judy's and my 25th Actors' Summit production, and we have loved them all. Thanks for years of great entertainment.

String of Hearts: Photographs by Bea Nettles

Date: Now - Sunday July 8, 2012

Location: Akron Art Museum

www.akronartmuseum.org

The photographs of Bea Nettles often depict the artist's intimate family life, yet they also speak to the broad ideas of what it means to be a mother, teacher and artist, which she describes as her greatest roles. The focus of this exhibition, a survey of the museum's collection of Nettles' photographs, is the artist's use of autobiographical imagery, animated by her experimental processes.

Many of her images contain metaphoric views of domesticity and motherhood. This poetic approach is apparent throughout her career with the inclusion of text in images, inventive bookmaking and self-publishing. The museum's collection also contains works made from Polaroids, etchings and digital and dye transfer prints, all of which are gifts of the artist.

Ray Turner: Population

Date: Now - Sunday May 27, 2012

www.akronartmuseum.org

Ray Turner: Population is a unique exhibition of nearly 200 portraits of a wide cross-section of people from across the country, including University Park and downtown Akron residents, executed with oil paint on glass. Population is an expanding series of portraits that invites viewers to contemplate identity from an individual and collective standpoint. The portraits of Akronites will be intermixed with Turner's ongoing series, and as the exhibition evolves with the addition of new portraits from different communities, the body of work will increasingly reflect the nation's cultural makeup.

Turner's works search for the inner essence and character of his subjects over physical accuracy. Fluid, much like notions of identity, Turner's textural paintings vacillate between realism and abstraction. Population entices the viewer to decipher each sitter individually—the facial features, expressions, and emotions as captured in Turner's sculptural brushwork—as well as search for relationships across the entire group of works.

An updated edition of the print-catalog will be available for purchase at the Akron Art Museum. In addition, an online catalog and DVD will be produced to document the evolution of Population as it travels the country.

Stranger in Paradise: The Works of Reverend Howard Finster

Date: Now - Sunday June 3, 2012

Location: Akron Art Museum
www.akronartmuseum.org

Survey of the works and legacy of Reverend Howard Finster, self-proclaimed "Man of Visions," in Stranger in Paradise. One of America's most widely known and prolific self-taught artists, Finster produced over 46,000 works of art before his death in 2001.

In the mid-1960s, Finster began building a roadside park, an attraction meant to display all of "the inventions of mankind." As he was using his hands to apply paint Finster noticed that the paint smudge on his finger had created a perfect human face. A voice spoke to him, saying, "paint sacred art." In response, Finster produced thousands of sermon-laden artworks with subjects ranging from historical characters and popular culture icons like Elvis Presley to evangelistic fantasy landscapes and futuristic cities. Most works are meticulously covered in Finster's own hand-lettered words and biblical verse, recording visionary prophecies and providing glimpses of a celestial outer space world that Finster believed God had revealed to him.

This exhibition provides an in-depth survey of Finster's career, covering the variety of themes inherent in his work, much of it relating to his visionary experiences. Well-known and misunderstood, his position remains polarized, suspended somewhere between awe for his tireless, faith driven creativity and reluctance by the art community to accept his place in the pantheon of contemporary art.
